

Fenda Audio (F&D) launches 4.1 Home Theatre Speaker - F1200U

By entering a new segment, F&D aims to enhance your listening to music, watching movies and gaming experience

Fenda Audio (F&D), a leader in sound technology has ventured into 4.1 speaker category with 'F1200U' home theatre speakers offering 3600W PMPO. With features that bring home the cinema experience; this speaker system is designed to provide an unbeatable sound at an affordable price of Rs. 4,990/-

F1200U fulfills audio expectations of consumers seeking excellent sound for music, movies and games in their comfort space. The sub-woofer comes with a 4 inch full-range driver and the satellite speakers are powered by 4-inch full range drivers for high performance output. With a built-in digital FM player providing storage up to 100 stations which works on PLL technology, this product suits the multiple moods of listeners.

The all-in-one product can be easily connected to various media devices such as USB/SD card, PC, TV, MP3, CD and DVD player. A unique round shape satellite design and heavy duty metal grill not just enhances the sound quality but also the appearance. Furthermore, the subwoofer of F1200U flaunts a wooden cabinet which delivers strong and low distortion bass. Wood helps to reduce distortion while the bass fills the room with clear, powerful sound. Undoubtedly, this latest entrant is a great way to listen to your favorites.

Commenting on the launch, Mr. Rajesh Bansal, Director, F&D said, "We are pleased to announce a new category -- 4.1 home theatre speaker system best suited for consumers looking for good quality yet budget-friendly product. Catering to a wider audience, F1200U is easy to use and an energy saving speaker system."

This home theatre system allows the user to operate the system using a fluorescent full-function remote control increasing accessibility and comfort. A fine offering in the 4.1 category scoring high on style exudes true cinematic experience at home without making one splurge. All you need is a tub of popcorn and you are set to enjoy the experience.
